Title of the Event: Vishwakarma puja
Event Category: Celebratory
Date: 17th September 2021
Time: 10.30 am
Venue: 1st Floor, Pattern Making & Sewing Lab

Content (Contextual features and challenging issues in 150 words): Every year the staff members of J.D. Birla Institute organize the Vishwakarma Puja which is typically held on 17th September. Lord Vishwakarma is considered to be the Divine Engineer or Architect of the world. The Vishwakarma Puja is very popular in West Bengal particularly, and is celebrated by establishments which have plants, machineries and equipments. Since our college have specialized laboratories for the Textile Clothing & Fashion Studies, Food Science & Nutrition Management, Interior Designing and Human Development departments, as well as the Instrumentation Lab, which house a lot of equipments and industrial machineries, the staff members have found it fit to celebrate the Puja every year. The Puja is planned and organized mainly by the laboratory personnel with help from other staff members. The expenses for the Puja are borne by the college.

Objective/s (intended outcomes in 100 words): The main objective of the Vishwakarma Puja is to pray for the safe and efficient use of the different machineries and equipments that are there in the college. However, the occasion provides for a platform for informal interaction and socializing to the members. It helps in improving work place camaraderie and lifts employee morale. It is an indirect way of reminding us of the importance of the machineries and equipments at our work place.

About the event (in 150 words): This year the Vishwakarma Puja was organized on 17th September 2021 from 10 AM onwards. The event was held in the hybrid mode due to pandemic related restrictions. Some members performed the Puja in the college premises while others witnessed it online over zoom. The members made the necessary arrangements – like buying the idol, decorating the Puja area and the like – a day prior. The Puja was conducted by our Principal with the help of other staff. After the Puja, Prasad was distributed to all present.
