2. Measures taken to complete the syllabus of courses and programs.		During the pandemic the college has shifted to an online teaching-learning mode as per the Government directive, in order to prioritize the safety of all concerned. While trying to adapt to the altered state of things, the college has ensured that the teaching-learning process along with other necessary administrative tasks and office work remain up to date. The college has taken all possible measures in order to help the students and to make certain that they do not suffer academically or otherwise during the pandemic. No-contact online teaching as per set routine was conducted on all six days of the week to ensure timely completion of syllabus. Separate subscription of zoom was taken for each of the sixty-two faculty members for uninterrupted teaching. Full syllabus was completed within the prescribed time and end semester examination was conducted for both the semesters during the academic session. Academic time tables along with monthly assignments and activities were prepared for all the courses and uploaded on the college website right from the commencement of the semester. About 280 library textbooks were digitized and made available to the students along with individual connection to access the e-resources under National Library and Information Services Infrastructure for Scholarly Content (N-LIST). Monthly assignments were conducted in a systematic manner and students were informed about the outcome through display of consolidated marks on the college website. Webinars with invited guest speakers, special lectures, workshops, psychological counseling sessions, etc were conducted to enliven and develop the students' academic interests and critical thoughts. Cultural activities, quizzes and debates competitions were also organized virtually to break the monotony of online classes.
